Privacy Settings

- Control Privacy When You Post: Explains that users can manage the privacy of their status updates, photos, and information using an inline audience selector. It notes that people you share with can always share your information with others, including apps. A "Custom" button is highlighted with a red circle.
- Control Your Default Privacy: States that this setting applies to status updates and photos posted from a Facebook app that doesn't have an inline audience selector. Three options are shown: "Public", "Friends" (selected), and "Custom".
- How You Connect: Control how you connect with people you know. Includes an "Edit Settings" link.
- How Tags Work: Control what happens when friends tag you or your content. Includes an "Edit Settings" link.
- Apps and Websites: Control what gets shared with apps, games, and websites. Includes an "Edit Settings" link.
- Limit the Audience for Past Posts: Limit the audience for posts you shared with friends or Public. Includes a "Manage Past Post Visibility" link.

At the bottom, there are links for "Blocked and Apps" and "Manage Blockers". A right-hand sidebar contains navigation options: "Use Facebook on...", "League of California Cities" (repeated), "Account Settings", "Privacy Settings" (highlighted), "Log Out", and "Help".

Big thanks to Riverside Public Utilities today for coming out last night at 2am to do some electrical repair work at my apartment complex. I had a partial outage on one wall (as did my neighbor I share the wall with, I believe). Once the electricians got out, they got the job done in less than half an hour. They only had to turn off the power to the apartments in question for about 18 minutes! Awesome work, guys!
